Early on Sunday morning a disa-trous are was discovered to the upper stories of the magnificent residence of Senor Don Carlos Morla Vicuna, the Chilean minister, in Washington, and is a result the minister and the mem ers of his family were forced to abandon the building and seek shelter at the British embassy.

High mass was celebrated in St. Peer's in Rome on Saturday. The Pope eccived a number of women from New York, who presented to him a parch ment address bearing many signatures and a purse of $10,000. His Holiness made a brief speech, in which he ex-pressed a cordial wish for the prosperi-

Major Frederick H. Smith, a Confederate veteran and one of the most prominent engineers in Baltimore, died on Saturday. He was charged with be planning of the principal defences of Atlanta in June and July, 1864, he ben being a captain in the Confeder ate engineer corps. Most of the big bridge-work in and around Baltimore was made from his plans.

A dispatch from Dallas, Tex., says there was a lively Christmas in the reservation district Sunday evening. Two men are dead, five wounded and a dozen or more bruised as the result of a race conflict, originating a fight between a white and a colored man. The presence of a large body of police at a fire less than a block away from the scene of the trouble prevented the worst trouble between blacks and whites ever known in Texas.

THE MORGAN RAIDERS.

Officials of the penitentiary at Coumbus, O., on Saturday found a knife that was probably secreted by Thomas W. Bullett, of Louisville, Ky, who was one of the Morgan raiders who was imprisoned with the famous Confederate in the prison during the civil war, and who was one of the number to escape from the prison. Mr. Bullett recently told how and where he had secreted the knife, and expressed the belief that it was still in the place had put it years ago. It was and which were hidden when the fac of their possession was exposed. The place of concealment was said to have been in an air shaft used as a ventila tor, and after persistent starch it was found at the bottom, where it had dropped at some time since the raiders left the prison. It was rust eaten, and the handle of wood had nearly rotted away. A second knife was also found in the tunnel. The discovery is of especial interest since it settles a much mooted point—the means of escape of the prisoners. The most of the prison officials believe that the first knife is the one described by Mr. Bullett, and if that be true it proves beyond question that the Morgan raiders made their escape, as hes al-ways been claimed, by the tunnel route, and not by the aid or connivance of any of the prison officials. This point is given emphasis, too, by the fact as stated by Mr. Bullett, that the raiders took no stock in Warden Marion, in fact disliked him; but he was anxious that the truth should be known for the truth of history, and in order to relieve the warden's memory of any odium that might have attached to it by reason of the escape of General Morgan and his six companions.
